

Risclarity Announces Integration between DataHub and SS&C Technologies' Black Diamond Wealth Platform

GOLDEN, COLORADO APRIL 8, 2021 – Risclarity, a leader in integration and holistic client reporting applications for family wealth management, today announced an integration with SS&C Technologies' Black Diamond® Wealth Platform. Through this integration, family offices and wealth advisors can connect general ledger and other internal systems to create seamless workflows and increase productivity.

"We are excited to release the integration of the DataHub platform and SS&C's Black Diamond," said Rick Higgins, Founder and CEO of Risclarity. "We understand the importance of bringing existing systems and data together into one homogenous ecosystem. This integration helps provide firms with unparalleled client-service capabilities and the ability to scale and grow their business."

As family offices and wealth advisors navigate volatile markets, access to data makes the difference between operational excellence and operational breakdown. This integration allows family offices and wealth advisors who use both platforms to create robust operational workflows and reduce errors. A direct data connection from Black Diamond through the Risclarity Datahub replaces fingers on keyboards, so family offices and wealth advisors can focus on higher-value activities.

"Efficient operational workflows are critical to the success of family offices and wealth advisors," says Justin Wayne, Director of Solutions Management at SS&C Black Diamond. "The integration with Risclarity will help firms systematically process investment data in conjunction with their other back-office tools."
